Susan E. Raffanello (Mortensen) represents the firm's clients in complex commercial litigation before state and federal trial and appellate courts, arbitration panels, mediators and professional boards. She has also successfully written and argued case-dispositive motions in a variety of matters, including class action litigation.

Prior to entering private practice, Ms. Raffanello served as a judicial clerk for the Honorable Deanell Reece Tacha, current Chief Judge of the United States Court of Appeals, Tenth Circuit. Since then, she has practiced with a highly respected litigation law firm in Phoenix, Arizona and a large, national law firm in Miami.
